DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Ayer (4,353,372). Applicant's attention is directed to the general description of the electrode and the Figure 7 embodiment, in particular. Apertures in the contact region are disclosed in Figure 6 (see element 171).

Claims 1-4 and 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Gadsby et al (5,341,806). Applicant's attention is directed to the Figure 13 and the Figure 15 embodiments, in particular.

Claims 1-4, 8, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Marks et al (2005/0070808). Applicant's attention is directed to the Figure 1 prior art electrode and the electrode shown in Figure 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3739

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marks et al (2005/0070808) in view of Gadsby et al (5,341,806). Marks et al fails to disclose a conductive coating layer. Gadsby et al disclose the use of a coating layer (element 146 in Figure 18) to enhance electrical contact. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to the skilled artisan to add such a layer to the electrode of Marks et al to ensure electrical contact with the body.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marks et al (2005/0070808)/Ayer (4,353,372) in view of Feucht (4,745,918). Marks et al and Ayer fail to disclose the contact region feature. Feucht discloses the use of such a feature in Figure 2. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to the skilled artisan to add such a feature to the electrodes of Marks et al/Ayer to ensure superior contact with the electrical connector.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited art discloses similar electrode structures.
